WHY IVF IN GREECE

People often like to combine their IVF treatment with a holiday. Greece has 50 clinics for IVF treatment and has much to offer including the quality of their facilities, medical specialists, as well as the beautiful and warm environment the country offers.

IVF treatment cost in Greece is lower compared especially to the north Europe, but IVF with us is absolutely negotiable and addresses in the best way to the needs of the couples. Greek legislation supports and encourages most IVF techniques and methods, allowing egg and sperm donation and surrogacy programs. The country is becoming one of the top IVF destinations in Europe from year to year, due to the aforementioned qualities, the strong academic background of their medical professionals, the very low waiting time and cost of therapies, and their extraordinary experience in IVF treatment.

EGG DONATION

Egg donation is a method of assisted reproduction. It is quite well known nowadays, mostly in Europe and America, as thousands of children are born every year through this specific process.

Egg donation is a process during which a woman donates a number of her eggs to another woman so as to help her get pregnant. This process mostly concerns infertile couples and can be caused by various medical factors, such as health problems, premature menopause, genetic or pathological problems of the uterus and the reproductive system. In our clinic, egg donation is carried out with the help of our associates.

SURROGATE MOTHERHOOD

Surrogate programs can be applied only to women who cannot conceive due to severe medical problems. Intended parents may seek a surrogacy arrangement when either pregnancy is medically impossible, pregnancy risks present an unacceptable danger to the mother's health or is a same sex couple's preferred method of having children. For such a program a court order is required since the surrogate mother will carry and give birth to a child of another person. In Greece, since 2014, the legislation allows even more couples to proceed to such a procedure and make their dreams come true: bring in life their treasure; their child.

Fertility Design Clinic proceeds to surrogate motherhood programs using the facilities and assistance of its partners (Mediterranean Fertility Institute).
